Rufus F. Blalock, a former Pleasant Hill boy, recently met with the misfortune of losing his left eye, while working repairing cars for a railroad company at Monan, Ind. He was driving a nail and it broke, one piece struck him in the left eye, penetrating the ball. He was taken to Logansport and every effort made to save the eye, but without avail and it was finally removed. The numerous friends of the young man around Pleasant Hill will deeply regret the accident that has befallen him.

Attorney J. W. Dorton and family motored to Erasmus Sunday for a visit with relatives and friends.

Mrs. B. H. West went to Chattanooga last week for a visit of a few days with her folks, the Harrises.

Plenty of fine Blanks at the Chronicle office: two weeks' size and monthly, only 10c. Stenographers' note books also.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kemmer, Grassy Cove, was made happy Saturday by the birth of a daughter. That makes three girls and two boys that Jim must furnish rations for, but he is equal to the task and then some.

Crane's stationery by the quire and envelopes by the bunch at the Chronicle office. Nothing made better than Crane's.

Fred H. Washburn was over from Ponoma Monday. He reports people of that section making an unusual effort in farming.

Attorney G. C. Peek went to Algood Saturday for a visit with homefolks.

Roy Jackson is home from Birmingham, Ala. for a visit of a few days.

Everett Henry, who has been working with a coal company at Wilder for about two years, has resigned his position and this week enters the sales department of the C. M. McClung Hardware Company, Knoxville. After familiarizing himself with the business to some extent he will probably be put on the road as salesman.

Miss Fay Bandy and brother, Master Lester Bandy, are visiting relatives and friends in Crawford this week.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Christian church will meet this week with Mrs. E. L. Lemert and next week with Mrs. A. J. McGuire.

Edgar Snodgrass has received an appointment to West Point and has been directed to report June 14. It will be remembered that he went to Atlanta a few weeks ago to take the examination for such an appointment. The only fear his friends had for his appointment was his weight, as he was slightly below the regulation weight for a man of his height. That difficulty seems to have been waived and he will now soon leave for that great American military school to take a course of training covering a period of four years.

N. E. Jackson and family moved last week from the Converse house on Prospect Hill to the Black house in the north end of town.

Alva Potter, who has charge of the road work near Daysville, spent the week-end at home.

For Sale—One Store Coffee mill. Will sell cheap. Also one large bell suitable for farm or church house. Apply at Chronicle office.

In this issue appears the call for an election to be held at Burgess to elect two Justices of the Peace and one Constable for the new fifth district created by the last legislature. The election will be held June 7 and the 3x7 ballot will be used. There promises to be several candidates in the field for both places. It will be up to the candidates to furnish their own tickets as the county has nothing to do with that feature of the election expense.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Congregational church will meet with Mrs. Fred McCart Thursday afternoon.

Splendid assortment of Place Cards and Tally Cards; also Five Hundred score pads, at the Chronicle office.

If you want score cards and pencils, paper napkins, nice writing paper cut to special size come to the Chronicle office for them.

In our visit to Grassy Cove Saturday we found the people of that little green valley fully alive to the needs of more food and so industrious have they been that practically every available inch is being utilized to produce food and feed. J. C. Kemmer, the most extensive farmer in the county, has 500 acres he is farming this year in the Cove and almost 100 acres on the mountain. If there is a person in the county who has "a job for a full grown man" that person is J. C. Kemmer. Besides his farming he is conducting a large general store and a grist mill. In spite of the multitude of duties that are constantly pressing on his time he is the same genial man he is when he meets with his friends in the county seat or elsewhere. He never seems to be in a hurry yet every moment he is giving his attention to some detail of his extensive business. Columns could be written telling of the diversity of business that requires his attention and it is a well-known fact that he is one of the men in this county who has made a rousing success of his widely diversified and extensive business. His ability to direct and manage many things would astonish many who know him personally in detail. Some day we hope to give a more detailed description of his many business ramifications and we feel sure it will be read with interest.

Plenty of small single entry ledgers at the Chronicle office: 150 pages only 35 cents.

Milo Lemert left the first of the week for Roane county on business.

Attorney J. A. Alred is here from Jamestown visiting his daughter, Mrs. I. E. Thurman.

The beautiful rain that fell yesterday morning broke a drought of four weeks and put crops on the boom. Farmers had been very actively pushing their work and had by that means gotten crop generally in a much better condition to be benefited by the rain than is usually the case.

W. L. Guthrie spent the week-end with homefolks at Livingston.
